WEDDINGS TAKE INTEREST OF NILES OVER WEEK-END

Reno Ceremonies Popular As 12 Take Vows In Past Week

Dan Cupid, whose activities are generally fairly well spaced in this district, spent a great deal of his time in the vicinity of Niles during the past week, with a resulting upswing in weddings.

Since last Monday twelve Niles young people have taken their marriage vows. Of this number eight dispensed with formal ceremonies and were wed in Reno, the Gretna Green of the west.

Double Wedding

Miss Annabelle Henry, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Henry, of the Hotel Belvoir, was wed at Reno Sunday to Fred McGraw, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. McGraw, of Livermore. The new Mrs. McGraw, popular and attractive member of the younger set in this region, was graduated from the Washington Union High school with the class of 1932. McGraw, a county employee, has made a wide acquaintance throughout the south county. The couple will continue to make their home at the Hotel Belvoir.

Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. McGraw to Reno Sunday were Miss Helen Hughes, sister of Mrs. Wesley Dexter Gordon, and Russell Ross, Pacific Gas and Electric Company employee, who made the wedding a double one. They have taken a cottage at the Hotel Belvoir.

The four newly-weds, returning to Niles Monday night, told of a dificult trip over the Sierras in a heavy snowstorm. Their car was the last to be allowed over the summit, and had to creep along behind a snow plow.

Wed at Reno

Friends of Miss Lorene Kerns and Alvin Gomes, both of Niles, were completely surprised Sunday morning to learn that the couple had left Niles in the early morning hours and were enroute to Reno. Both had been guests at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. William Helm, and had kept such strict secrecy that no one knew of their intentions. Their families learned of the wedding late Sunday morning.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. George Duffy, well-known Niles woman, and a sister of Sam Kerns, president of the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce. She was graduated from the Centerville high school last year. The new groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gomes, prominent Niles residents. He is a native of Niles, and a graduate of local schools. He was a member of the Bank of America staff at Centerville up to a short time ago, when he resigned to accept a position with a large Sunnyvale cannery, where he is now a member of the administrative force.

The couple had not returned to Niles from their honeymoon yesterday. They will make their

JUNIOR CHAMBER HEARS TREASURY REPORT MONDAY

Numerous Projects Drawn Up for Completion During Summer

Thirty-six members of the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce, meeting at the Coffee Cup restaurant, Niles, for the regular session Monday night, heard with interest a treasury report by William Cavanaugh. The report was definite proof of activity during the short two months since the formal organization of the civic body.

Including the receipts of the Pre-Lenten dance, held Saturday night, the sum in the treasury has reached a high mark, with numerous projects looming which will demand expenditures in the near future.

The junior chamber dance at the Ganden Saturday night has been a topic of discussion during the week. More than 600 attended. Conducted to the letter by an able floor committee, the affair is rated as one of the best ever given here. Gross receipts topped the $200 mark.

Among reports given Monday night was one by William Cavanaugh on the collection for the night patrol service. Cavanaugh stated that the merchants and

NILES GROCER REVIVES "WILD" WEST" IN CITY

Frank Martinelli, jovial proprietor of Matrinelli's grocery store in Niles, doesn't believe in sparing the "rod," if that term may be applied to his trusty revolver. Martinelli had occasion to wave the weapon to a considerable extent in San Francisco Tuesday morning.

Stopping his truck on Broadway, while he alighted to make some purchases, Martinelli noticed after a few moments that a thief was making off with his coat, which he had left in the vehicle. Having had a similar experience, losing a $22 coat almost at the same spot several weeks ago, Martinelli rushed to his truck, grabbed his pistol, and started in pursuit. A crowd quickly gathered, following the fun. Martinelli, by shouting that he was about to open fire, caused the fugitive to stop.

By jabbing the gun into the man's ribs, the grocer made him admit that he had taken the coat and that his name was Cisto Ornelies. There being no policeman in sight, Martinelli marched the culprit at the point of the gun, while looking for a minion of the law. None was in sight, so the terrified thief was told to go.

Martinelli states that he doesn't know who enjoyed the fun most—he or the spectators.

MOUNTERS, METAL WORKERS OUT AT NEWARK

Evidently receiving instructions from the officials of their union, more than 100 stove mounters and sheet metal workers were remaining away from their work at the Graham Manufacturing Company plant at Newark yesterday.

The men were called from their shops Tuesday morning, as part of a general walk-out of their unions in the east bay, it was reported. A meeting was held in Oakland Tuesday afternoon.

The local in this district held a meeting yesterday morning at Hansen's hall, in Centerville. Grievances of the men were not made known.

INITIAL MEETING FOR NEW DECOTO GROUP TOMORROW

Frank J. Thomas Leads In Junior Chamber Organization

Two months of preparatory work will end tomorrow night for the new Decoto Junior Chamber of Commerce, when that group gathers for its organization meeting at the Seven Oaks tavern.

Frank J. Thomas, temporary chairman, will conduct the new civic group in its first session, the main business of which will be the election of officers and discussion of initial projects.

Among the first plans of the organization are some for improving Decoto streets and looking into the possibility of better street lighting.

Thomas, active in civic work in the Decoto district, is confident of a large attendance.

FIREMEN INSPECT EXTINGUISHERS THIS WEEK

Fifteen hand fire extinguishers, located at as many points throughout the Niles fire district, are receiving a thorough inspection this week, by members of the Firemen's Club.

Placed where they will be of service to residents of each neighborhood, the two-gallon devices were found to be in good condition with the exception of several on Third street, where mischief-makers had turned them upside down in their boxes. Firemen said that a watch will be kept hereafter, and the vandals prosecuted.

The club is repairing the boxes, putting on new doors, and numbering each station. A map of the district will be drawn showing where the extinguishers are placed.

Clarence Crane, Joe Perry, Ed Olivera and several others laid out the work to be done Sunday, when they made a tour of preliminary inspection. Crane stated that some of the boxes may be removed from their present location to the residential district on the highway west of the town. He advised residents to acquaint themselves with the location of each extinguisher after the present work is finished.

CHAMBER ELECTS OFFICERS FOR 1935 AT MONDAY MEET

Dr. E. C. Grau, President; Dr. R. H. Bennett, Vice President of Group

Dr. E. C. Grau, Niles physician, long an active member of the Niles Chamber of Commerce, was elevated to the presidency of that group Monday by an unanimous vote at the annual election of officers. Working with Grau this coming year will be Dr. E. H. Bennett, vice president; A. J. Petsche, secertary, and R. B. Blacow, treasurer. The latter two retained their posts by the unanimous vote of the members.

The board of directors named consists of Lester Duffy, George Bonde, E. A. Ellsworth, A. J. Petsche, R. B. Blacow, Dr. R. H. Bennett, and Past President F. V. Jones.

F. V. Jones, who retired from the presidency Monday after seven years of leadership, three of which were consecutive, lauded the civic group on their selection of Grau as their leader for 1935, and in a brief address, stated his appreciation to the group for enthusiastic support and interested attention during his years in office.

Jones, one of Niles most active community workers for decades, has seen the Niles Chamber of Commerce grow from a small beginning to a position of civic importance. He remained with it through several reorganizations, always striving toward a high standard of accomplishment. Among the major projects undertaken and brought to a successful conclusion under Jones' administration is the opening of First street through the California Nursery Company property. Jones visioned and helped to make the Dumbarton road bridge a realty. He was instrumental in bringing the Veterans' Memorial building to Niles, and the paving of First street was one of the works in which he took active interest.

Doctor Grau, in accepting the gavel from Jones, expressed his appreciation for the trust of the civic group, and pledged his best effort for his coming term. He asked that suggestions be freely made, and said that he would welcome criticism.

Previous to the election and installation, the group discussed what stand the civic organization would take on a letter from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, urging censure of senators who approved a higher wage for relief workers than was specified in the federal works program. The matter was laid over until further discussion could be heard.

E. A. Ellsworth rendered a report on a proposed state tax plan now before the legislature, whereby a uniform transaction and gross sales tax would supplant all present state taxation, including gasoline and sales taxes. The new taxation would be levied on all alike, with no exemptions. Several members of the chamber asked that the matter be held over for further study.

NILES RESIDENT, 58, SUCCUMBS TO SUDDEN STROKE

Mitchell Portella Dies At Home Here Early Saturday Night

Death, coming swiftly after a period of ill health, took Mitchell Portella, 58-year-old Niles man, suddenly Saturday evening. Numerous of his friends, although they knew he had been ill of late, were amazed to hear of his sudden pasing. He had walked to the store for his wife, a few minutes before he was taken with the fatal spell.

Portella had been a resident of Niles for many years, and leaves a host of friends in this district. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Cozy Portella, and two daughters—Mrs. Mary Mattos and Mrs. C. Ramos.

Funeral services, under the direction of Botelho's Chapel of Palms, were held from the Portella home on Third street, Niles, at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. A high mass followed at the Corpus Christi church, at 9:30 o'clock, with the Rev. Father Emmet O'Conner officiating. Interment was in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery at Hayward.

STORK WINS IN BREAKNECK RACE FOR MEDICAL AID

After a nip and tuck race with the stork to an Oakland hospital early last Thursday morning, Mrs. Isabel Villegas, eighteen-year-old Alvarado woman, gave birth to a seven-pound boy in the family car at the hospital gates. A collision en route was thought to have hastened the newcomer's advent.

Called from the hospital when the Villegas car staled at the gate, Dr. G. Maiuswarming assisted by attendants, delivered the boy while the rain drummed on the roof of the family car. Mother and child were then carried into the hospital, where the young woman was treated for a cut on the nose suffered in the collision. Both the babe and mother were "doing nicely" after a few hours.

Thomas Vilegas, the husband and his wife's sister were unhurt in the collision. The other car did not stop.

MARCH COMES IN LIKE LION; INCH OF RAIN FALLS

March lived up to its reputation of coming in like a lion this year, when more than an inch of rain fell in this district for the twenty-four hours beginning Thursday noon. Subsequent showers brought an additional forty hundredths of an inch to raise the total to above 16 inches for the season to date.

Pea growers, who had been lamenting continued northerly breezes, were grateful for the downpour, but became apprehensive early this week, when the thermometers fell to 33 degrees. No damage was done by the light frosts, however.

Apricot growers were unanimous in the opinion that the rain did little damage to their crop, but added that rains after this week will have serious consequences.

Jean Oliveria, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Oliveria, was operated on for tonsilitis Saturday morning. She is rapidly recovering.

J. J. Amaral and Andrew Jorgensen, of Pleasanton, were among people from that town to attend the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce dance at the Garden of Allah Saturday night.

MERRIAM PROVING HIS METTLE

In endorsing the Townsend plan, Governor Merriam may have economically erred, but erring, did so on the side of humanity. The Township Register is quick to commend the governor on his political courage. It took fortitude and valor of a high order to officially favor a measure that all large interests are against—the very interests that supported the executive so ardently during the last campaign.

If the California electorate were going to the polls next week to vote for or against Merriam for governor, it would be easy to understand why Merriam issued the statement commending the old age pension, sponsored by the Long Beach economist. But the election is over and Merriam is safe in the executive mansion for four years. Thus his pronouncement on the Townsend plan bears the status of sincerity, and do not mistake it, bravery.

Merriman is a clean man, morally. There are no drinking parties at his home, and the inaugural ball was dignified and free from the dissipation and carousing that marked the regime of Rolph. The present governor does not make an ass of himself with pretty girls. In fact, his conduct is decorous and dignified. California may raise its head again.

It is, indeed, a pleasure to commend Merriam. We believe he is going to make California a good governor. He has shown an inclination to keep his own counsel, and is displaying a fearless policy that, if continued, will endear him in the heart of the average man of this commonwealth.

WILL GO A "LONG" WAYS

Indications point to the removal of Postmaster General Farley. Huey Long is out after that gentleman's political scalp, and, evidently, has "got the goods" on the big jowled cabinet member who believes in the ward politician principle, "that to the victor belongs the spoils."

Roosevelt has a habit of dropping his political underlings when the fire built under their records gets too hot. He is not the type that sticks with his friends through "hell and high water."

Long is fast becoming the most powerful figure in America. He generally must be right—regardless of garbled accounts of his activities printed in the millionaire press—or he long ago would have passed out of the political picture.

As a fighter, he has no counterpart in the United States senate.

Watch Long. He will go a "Long" ways!

TOWNSEND PLAN IS NEED OF NATION, SAYS SPEAKER

Contending that great human need brings forth great leaders among men, the Rev. Reykugell, of Oakland, told members of the Washington Township Townsend Club Monday night, that Dr. E. E. Townsend was such a leader, whose plan to restore the wealth of the nation to the buying public was among the great, wise, ideas of all time.

The Rev. Raykugell pointed out the futility of pouring money into relief chanels, and compared the cost of charity with the cost of the Townsend plan. The latter, he said, would restore the buying power needed to stimulate industry and trade, and thus bring about employment of idle millions.

Members of the club were elated when it was announced that the membership was now over 100, and that a full charter would be granted.

The next meeting will be held at Washington Union High school on Monday evening, March 18.

DOG-SHOOTING CASE DISMISSED HERE LAST FRIDAY

Dismissed by Judge J. A. Silva, on recommendation of the district attorney, the Overacker-Witherly dog shooting case came to an end Friday afternoon at the Niles justice court. F. H. Witherly, complainant, requested that the case be dropped. He consented to withdrawing previous charges.

The case arose several weeks ago out of the alleged shooting of Witherly's prize police dog by Michael Overacker, Jr. Witherly brought action in the local court.

Overacker was represented by Ezra Decoto, former district attorney. Deputy District Attorney Stanley Smallwood handled the case for Witherly.

MAKE CHANGES IN POULTRY HOUSES

Farmers Insulate the Walls and Ceilings.

By R. E. Cray, Extension Poultryman, Ohio State University.—WNU Service.

Farmers are looking to the comfort of their hens this winter. They find it pays. Egg production is more constant during the cold winter months. Many farmers have reduced the cubic content of their chicken houses, and others have installed heating systems to be used when the weather is so cold the water in the houses freezes.

False ceilings are installed to cut the cubic capacity of the houses. Some are made with wire netting above, in which straw is stuffed. Other farmers employ a good insulating material.

Because warm air rises, it is the roof that needs to be insulated. Some poultrymen also insulate the walls in their poultry houses, some with straw held in place by wire netting, others with commercial insulating material.

Still others go further, modifying the window arrangement by eliminating the bafflers formerly recommended and fitting all of the openings with glass windows or glass substitutes.

Poultrymen also are worrying less about damp floors in their poultry houses. Results recently announced by experiment stations point to temperature control as more important than keeping the house thoroughly dry.

When the temperature in the house becomes so cold that the water freezes in the drinking fountains, brooder stoves are recommended. The stove should be surrounded with wire netting to keep the litter away.

Increase Mayor's Salary Despite His Protests

Budapest.—Despite his vehement protest, the mayor of Kalecsa has been forced to agree to an increase of 1,400 pengoes (about $300) a year in his salary.

The city council passed a unanimous resolution to pay tribute in this way to what it considered the mayor's extraordinary merits. After the resolution had been entered on the records, the mayor found out about it, and declared that he would withhold his signature rather than legalize a reward to which he felt he was not entitled.

His protests were in vain, however, and the city council had its way.

Resembles Man

Dogs are closer to man in every way than most of us are ready to concede. They reflect the major characteristics of their human associates. Their emotions are similar to man's, the neurotic dog being quite as common as the neurotic human. The dog's brain is rather similar to the human's, both in construction and function. So we learn from Dr. W. Horsley Gannt of the Phipps Psychiatric clinic, Johns Hopkins Medical school, Baltimore, Md., who has conducted a series of experiments with the many interesting findings which he relates to McDowell Lyon in the American Kennel Gazette.

Elements of Human Body

The body of the average human being weighing around 150 pounds contains the following 16 elements: 75 pounds of oxygen, 50 pounds carbon, 15 pounds hydrocarbon, 4 pounds calcium, 3 pounds of phosphorus, 2 pounds of chlorine, 2 pounds of nitrogen, 6 ounces of magnesium, 5 ounces of flourine, 4 ounces of sodium, 3 ounces of potassium, 2 ounces of iron, 1 ounce of silicon, ¼ ounce of iodine, and a trace of manganese.

Rainfall at the Movies

The rainfall you hear at the movies is made artificially by the use of a piece of machinery designed for the purpose. It is the best they can do, for the noise of falling raindrops is too faint to catch on the movie film. Efforts have been made in various ways to make a record of this furtive sound but it has never been quite successful.

A good hen should have a well developed heart girth, and the ribs should be well sprung and wide apart. She should be deep from the top to the back to the under side of the breast. Incubator Eggs and Baby Chicks Subject to Codes

Even incubator eggs and baby chicks are subject to codes. The outstanding feature of the proposed 1935 hatchery codes is the development of a national breeding and disease eradication program in the poultry industry of the United States. This program is under the direction of the secretary of agriculture.

The purpose of the code is to prevent unfair competitive practices and misleading and deceptive methods of advertising, and to promote the best interests of the industry in all possible ways. It is also aimed to aid workers in the hatcheries by specifying the hours of labor and wages. Also, an attempt is made to protect the buyer against misrepresentation and fraud.

Hatching Chicks

In the day to day operation of the incubator there is perhaps nothing more important than frequent and regular turning of the eggs. The more turning the better, at least up to four times in each 24 hours. Turning is more effective during the first half than during the latter half of the incubation period. This suggests that it should be begun early. It is considered sound practice to continue turning until the eggs begin to pip. One should not be in too much of a hurry to remove the chicks from the incubator. They should be given time to become thoroughly dry. Chilling at that time constitutes a serious handicap. If the hatch is good the moisture from the hatching chicks may be enough to chill them.—Sucessful Farming.

Fish Oil Aids Production

Two years experimental work at the Dominion experimental farm, Scott, Sask., has shown that pilchard (fish) oil added at the rate of 2 per cent to the laying mash of equal parts by weight of oat chop, barley chop, bran, shorts and beef scrap, has increased egg production 31 per cent over the production from pullets fed the same mash without the oil. Cod liver oil, fed at the same rate, increased production 26 per cent. Where fish meal was used to replace beef scrap in the mash, the production remained practically constant and no objectionable flavor was detected in the eggs. When bran and shorts were replaced by ground whole wheat, production was increased by 8 per cent.

New Breed of Poultry

The Marsh-Daisy is one of the new breeds of poultry that are attracting attention among English fanciers. It is said to be a wonderfully hardy, prolific breed, especially adapted to low-lying marshy districts. It is reported that these birds are splendid layers and that they continue as such until six or seven years of age. Quite a mixture of breeds was used in their manufacture, the Hamburg, Leghorn, Old English Malay Game, Pit Game and Buttercup all being included. They come in five varieties, Wheaten, Black, Brown, Buff and White.—Los Angeles Times.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

By no means is Thomas Kane, warden of the New York county jail, a gruff gaoler. His eyebrows are shaggy but his eyes are a mild blue and he looks at the world through shell rimmed glasses while he chuckles often. Warden Kane was criticized recently in a report of the state department of correction, a commission having looked things over all his jail. The report doesn't worry him in the slightest. He takes it as a matter of course and goes right ahead extending all the privileges he can to his wards on the ground that they are not desperadoes but merely civil prisoners, and therefore entitled to consideration. As a return for his kindness, the prisoners co-operate with him in various ways from keeping the jail neat and clean to obeying whatever rules he wants enforced.

* * *

Most of Warden Kane's guests are in the hoosegow because of their failure to meet alimony payments. Thus the institution of the headquarters of the Manhattan Alimony club. When Warden Kane first took charge, ten years ago, the club's headquarters were in the famous Ludlow jail. He couldn't do much for the boys down there. But when the old police station on West Thirty-seventh street was remodeled into a jail and the warden and the club moved up town, conditions were different. The kitchen is conveniently located. So Warden Kane allowed club members to prepare beefsteaks and fried potatoes. By and by, he permitted them to do a lot more cooking. That was one of the things for which he was criticized.

* * *

Cooking in the New York county jail is all right, Warden Kane holds, though he doesn't wish to criticize the corrections department. Jail fare gets monotonous and friends of prisoners are always sending them fruit, sandwiches and other comestible things. If eaten in cells, they cause a muss. Also butchers and grocers, who become members of the club because of alimony omissions, usually form strong friendships. Thus when they get out, they send back supplies which have to be cooked. There is one restriction, however. Prisoners can't have wines or liquors with their meals.

* * *

Not long ago, I had occasion to interview one of Warden Kane's wards whose wife had been irked by his tardiness in weekly payments. He wasn't at all downcast. About the only difference between jail and his club, he said, was that he didn't have to sign any checks. Also there were no dues.

Word comes from Hollywood that Peter Arno has devised something that should fill a long-felt want—an all-purpose evening outfit. It seems that Hollywood conditions caused him to turn his mind from satirical art long enough to overcome the difficulty and confusion that arise when one finds oneself at an evening affair where some of the guests wear formal attire, some tuxedos, some business suits and some sports outfits. Since similar situations are by no means confined to Hollywood, despite the long campaign waged for tails at New York evening affairs, a brief resume of the artist's life-saver may not be amiss.

* * *

Essentially, it is a midnight blue dinner jacket with proper accoutrements. But a set of tails, which may be attached in a jiffy, are carried while the black vest, when turned, changes to white satin. The bow tie is black on one side and white on the other. Thus the most formal requirements are met. On the other hand, the jacket, when turned wrong side out, becomes a green tweed sports coat and the trousers, when rolled above the knee are tweed above golf sox. The wings of the stiff collar turn down and become clips for a four-in-hand tie. Maybe the report is untrue. But it sounds interesting.

DOUBLE-YOLK EGGS OFFERED BY DOZEN

Hens at Massachusetts College Working Overtime.

By Prof. J. C. Graham, Head of Poultry Department, Massachusetts State College.—WNU Service.

State college hens have been working overtime and have laid so many double-yolked eggs that the college is offering eggs of this type for sale by the dozen. A number of poultrymen have found that their hens, too, have been producing double-yolked eggs on rather a large scale, so they have been able to offer them for sale.

An egg with two yolks is an abnormal egg. In flocks which are highly bred for egg production, when the pullets first start to lay, their egg manufacturing organs are not properly synchronized, so that yolks may be produced more rapidly than whites, membranes, and shells. As a result, two yolks may be enclosed, sometimes, within the same egg. After the birds have been laying for some time, however, this tendency to produce double-yolked eggs is lessened.

Double-yolked eggs, when they are available, usually sell for 7 to 10 cents above the price of ordinary fresh eggs, but they may weigh from 30 to 36 ounces as compared with an average of about 24 ounces per dozen for ordinary eggs. On this basis, the purchaser gets more eggs for his money by buying double-yolked eggs.

From a nutritional point of view, the double-yolked eggs are even more superior than the weight would indicate, for the extra yolks adds much more food value than the same amount of white. In fact, according to Miss May Foley, nutrition specialist of the college, egg yolk contains more food value per ounce than any other common food.

Abnormal Chicks Result Mainly From Two Causes

Abnormal chicks, those with only one eye, for instance, or those whose brains protrude, twin embryos, or chicks with viscera extruding, cause about 4 per cent of all deaths before hatching, says Dr. F. B. Hutt, head of the poultry department at Cornell university.

He states that these abnormal chicks result mainly from two causes: the parts affected have either grown too fast or have not grown at all during a critical period early in incubation. Most of these abnormalities, he says, are fatal to the chicks.

Fifty per cent of all embryos that die after the eighteenth day are found in abnormal positions in the egg, Doctor Hutt points out. Five types of these are known, each with minor variations. It is estimated that they cause 25 per cent of all deaths and are, therefore, powerful factors affecting hatchability.

Much Mourning in Europe

In many backward sections of Europe today, as for many past centuries, mourning crape is not only hung on the front door but also tied to bee-hives, silos, pigsties, barns and other outhouses which belonged to the deceased. A small piece is even tied around the neck of the family cat.—Collier's Weekly.

"Millions for Defense," Etc.

Carbon Monoxide Poisoning

The symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning vary, depending upon the concentration of the carbon monoxide breathed, but the usual result is a red coloration, particularly of the ears, lips and nails, and a cessation of breathing.

QUEER ARE TRICKS OF WAYWARD RIVERS

Eccentric Rio Grande Puts Farmers in Lurch.

Washington.—Residents of north and central New Mexico received a jolt recently when the Rio Grande, source of water for their crops, suddenly left them in the lurch by drying up completely into a path of sand.

"Dwellers near the peaceful Potomac or steady Hudson, accustomed to relying on rivers as dependable landmarks, flowing in routine way from source to mouth, are in for disillusionment," says the National Geographic society. "No feature of nature is more capricious than some rivers.

"This sudden drying up is an old trick of the Rio Grande, which, with only one large tributary, the River Pecos, tries to flow from the Rocky mountains over 2,000 miles to the sea across open valleys and arid desert. In winter and spring, melted snows swell this United States boundary stream until in places it leaves its banks; but in summer, in many sections, it evaporates in its sandy bed.

One of Bad Habits.

"Dwindling is just one of the bad habits of the eccentric Rio Grande. Swinging in great curves over the low flood plains, it often changes its course, shifting land between Mexico and Texas.

"Another perverse river is the changeable Hwang Ho, which has shifted its course through China many times. Its mouth on the Yellow sea, once south of the Shantung peninsula, now lies north of that promontory, 250 miles from its former outlet.

"Roundabout windings of a river add numerous miles to its course. Although an airplane trip direct from the source of the Seine to its mouth covers only 250 miles, the river, because of its meanderings, actually traverses 482 miles.

"Broad swingings of a river form wide curves, so-called 'oxbow loops.' In flood time, a swollen stream will sometimes cut across the neck of one of these loops, and flowing in a new channel, shorten its course by as much as fifteen miles.

"Rivers erode their banks unevenly. Often one bank remains many times higher than the other. The Volga's right bank in its lower portion is clifflike, while the left bank is low and subject to floods. For this reason, the Volga's lower course shows over thirty towns built on the high right bank to a mere handful on the low left bank.

"Although the sea's deposits on coasts sometimes cause rivers to seek new outlets, many rivers, on the other hand, push coast line out into the sea, linking islands to the land with sediment.

Streams That Disappear.

"A stream eccentric in its flow is the Garonne, a river of southwestern France, formed by two torrents. One of them rises like any other, flows along normally like an ordinary stream, and then drops mysteriously into the earth to flow underground for two and a half miles before emerging. Kentucky's Mammoth Cave and Virginia's Natural Bridge are thought to be the result of like subterranean tunneling. In Greece, rivers quite commonly disappear into caverns and reappear miles distant.

"Rivers vary not only their length but their volume. Broken dams and levees, raging waters dotted with roofs of drowned houses tell the tragedy of floods on the Mississippi and other rivers. The Hwang Ho is nicknamed 'China's Sorrow,' because of its frequent inundations which drown thousands of peasants crowding its low basin.

"Tidal rivers possess interesting phenomena in tidal waves, or 'bores,' which sweep in periodically from the sea. As these waves ascend the narrowing channel of a river, they form a steep wall of water towering many feet high. The Wye and the Severn in England, and the Seine in France, have small bores. The Hangchow bore on the Tsientang river, China, is one of the most famous of the river bores.

"The Upper Nile, between Khartum and Gondokoro is sometimes blockaded with floating vegetation called sudd, from an Arabic word meaning 'block.' In flood times, additional sediment often causes the mass to grow 25 miles long. Its interwoven reeds, vines, and bamboos form a great carpet so strong that elephants and rhinoceroses can walk across the Nile on it."

"Walking" Stewart

"Walking Stewart" was the nickname of John Stewart, an English traveler who traveled on foot through Hindustan, Persia, Nubia, Abyssinia, the Arabian desert, Europe and the United States. He died in 1822.

CONSTIPATION Can be Helped!

(Use what Doctors do)

Why do the bowels usually move regularly and thoroughly, long after a physician has given you treatment for constipation?

Because the doctor gives a liquid laxative that can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Ask your doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Your druggist has it; ask for—

CHOIR ENTERTAINS MASONIC HOME RESIDENTS

A large number of the residents of the Masonic Home, at Decoto, were cheered Sunday afternoon with an inspiring religious program through the enterprise of the young people of the Evangelical Tabernacle at San Jose.

A chorous of twenty-five voices, with an orchestra of seven pieces, featured the song service, with A. A. Nankivall, choir leader of the tabernacle church, as director. Harold Carmichael was in charge of the devotional unit. Vocal solos were rendred by Nankivale, violin solos by Lyle Davis and a vocal duet by two of the chorus.

The main address was by Mrs. Lilian Hackett, who was heard with close attention by the audience. W. C. Pierce, pastor of the Tabernacle, was unable to attend.

Another program recently enjoyed by the members of the home was the presentation of the musical operetta, "Jack and the Beanstalk," staged by 100 Decoto Grammar school children last Friday afternoon.

Directing the colorful play was Merle McDermott, head of the dramatic department; A. P. Peacock, principal of the school; Miss Blanch Henningson, pianist for the school, and Miss Mildred Smith, dancing teacher. The operetta had been given at the grammar school on Thursday.

Motorists Get Stuck In Mud Near Mission

"Stay off the shoulders of the road" is advice that should have saved the time and tempers of several motorists Sunday at the Hetch Hetchy pipeline crossing on the Niles-Mission highway.

Recently excavated for the huge pipe, the roadside was made into a morass by the heavy rains. The drivers who were unlucky enough to get off into the mud had to call for assistance. Clarence Crane, California Automobile Association towman, was kept busy throughout the day.

Uncle of Centerville Man Dies In Oakland

Manuel J. Silveria, of Oakland, uncle of F. J. Soit, of Santos avenue, Centerville, died at his home in the east bay city early this week. He was 75 years of age.

Silveria, who had made his home in Oakland for home than fifty years, was at one time owner of the largest barber shops in San Francisco. He abandoned his business here after the fire of 1906.

Funeral services were held at St. Joseph's church in Oakland. Interment was in the St. Mary's cemetery. Botelho's Chapel of Palms directed the funeral.

"VODVIL" ATTRACTS CROWD FOR BOTH PERFORMANCES

The quality of amateur performances, as evidenced by the "Vodvil," at the Washington Union High school last Thursday and Friday nights, is consistently good enough to merit the attendance of hundreds of township people. The school auditorium was comfortably filled both evenings.

Directed by Principal A. J. Rathbone, Miss E. Marie Sandholdt and Miss Sybil Botelho, the "Vodvil" was staged in three acts, the first of which was a cleverly conceived idea of Dr. X., whose magic ray makes a famous accordianist out of John Accinelli, gives Lawrence Houck the army he desired, and makes a famous ballet chorous for Edna King. The wooden soldiers and chorous were excellent.

In act two, the stage becomes a plantation, with the antics of John Cattaneo and Lawrence Gonzalves taking the center with Jack Rathbone as the dusky master of ceremonies. Harry Cesari, a natural born comedian, covorted throughout the act, winding it up with an uproarious tap dance. Bernice Weber, accompanist throughout the play, gave the right quality to her music.

In act three, Sam Dinsmore, the explorer, comes to Little America, with his retinue of lesser explorers, among whom Freal Andrade was outstandingly funny. Arthur Fereira, as Barnacle Bill, and Charles Myrick, as the fair young maiden, evoked gales of mirth. The Penguins, Skaters and Lollypops formed the background for the act.

Costumes for the evening were designed by the high school sewing class. The stage sets were laid out and constructed under direction of Miss Sybil Botelho's art classes.

Madruga Subdues Gas Fire Single Handed

Proving that his presidency of the Alameda County Firemen's Association is no empty title, Frank Madruga, Centerville garageman, proved his flame-fighting ability Tuesday morning when he single-handed combated and extinguished a fierce gasoline blaze in the rear of his shop.

The fire started, Magruda said, when an electirc spark ignited gasoline that had trickled into the pit from a leaking carburetor. Madruga siezed a small hand extinguisher and attacked the flames.

Chick Santos, in the shop at the time, ran for a larger extinguisher, only to find the blaze out when he returned.

WORK ON STAGE AT CLUB HOUSE WILL START SOON

"Books" was the theme of an interesting program given at the regular meeting of the Country Club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. B. Haley gave a resume of her reading as a girl, while Miss Irma Hodges told of the modern girl's tastes. The two are remarkably similar.

Mrs. E. B. Hodges introduced Miss Mary Barmby, county librarian, and Mrs. E. A. Mitchell, of Oakland. Mrs. Mitchell gave a list of books for spring, with a short review of each. She named Willa Cather as the outstanding fiction writer.

Mrs. E. D. Bristow presented Mrs. E. A. Sparkes and Miss Margaret Ball, both of San Jose, in vocal and piano selections. The former sang, "Hills of Home," and "Sylvia" and "To You." Miss Ball played a Spanish dance.

The stage committee reported that the contract for the addition had been let to R. E. Griffith, Irvington contractor, and reported that the work would begin immediately.

Mrs. F. T. Dusterberry appointed the following delegates to the convention of clubs to be held at Lodi in April: Mrs. W. H. Ford, Mrs. A. B. Haley, with Mrs. J. E. Thane and Mrs. George Coit as alternates.

Mrs. George Coit announced that the program and music committees are working on a "Fashion Revue," to be presented at the next meeting, and a fashion show and Easter parade to be given for the benefit of the stage fund.

Mrs. George Emerson was welcomed into the club as a new member.

MARKETING CONTROL CHANGE SOUGHT FOR CHERRIES

Reorganization of the Cherry Growers' Association with the object of controlling the proportions of canned and barreled Royal Annes, was the subject of discussion one evening early last week, when the Eden-Washington Farm Bureau members gathered at the Washington Union High school, in Centerville.

A. H. Harrison, extension service marketing assistant, was the main speaker at the meet. He told that the object of the proposed reorganization was to keep the proper balance between canning and barreling of Royal Annes, in order to hold the Atlantic seaboard market against foreign importation. He said present tariffs limit prices to 6 cents per pound for fresh fruit and to 7 cents for the barreled variety.

Of recent years it has been the practice to barrel surplus Royal Annes for sale in slack seasons.

Tomorrow will bring another hard game, against Joe Blacow's San Jose State College nine at San Jose.

Regli stated that his line-up for both games will be tentative, until he gets a line on his best combinations. He placed the following as probable starters this afternoon:

TWO POST SEASON GAMES PLAYED AT W.U.H.S.

In a post-season game, played on the Centerville court Tuesday night, a team composed of Emeryville varsity basket-ballers, defeated the Livermore varsity by a score of 36 to 26.

The teams represented the best players in the league. Livermore squeezed five men on to the first string, only to lose to the second string, made up of the Emeryville boys. Dale Laybourne, of Centerville, who was to have been center on the second string, was not notified of the game. His place was taken by the Emeryville center.

In the B class, the Livermore aggregation took the league tilt in a playoff against Emeryville by a score of 44 to 18.

4100 TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES IN SOUTH ALAMEDA

Beginning last Wednesday, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, began distribution of 300 copies of the new green-covered telephone directories to subscribers in Niles. Distribution of more than 4100 books in southern Alameda county was completed at the end of last week.

W. B. Sutherland, manager of the telephone company, suggested a number of precautionary measurers to take before destroying your old directory. Be sure that no valuable papers are "filed" between the pages. "People often slip receipts, tickets, etc., letters and even money between telephone directory page for 'handy referenie,' and then forget" said Sutherland.

He stressed the importance of burning the old directory immediately after receiving the new one, as a means of avoiding possible errors which might arise from reference to the old name listings.

APRICOT THINNING LOOMS AS CONTROL FOR BUMPER CROPS

Simple Proposal Made To Avoid Market Glut In Heavy Crop Seasons

An apricot control plan requiring a prorated dropping or thinning of the green fruit to operate only in years of market-breaking bumper crops, will be discussed at a meeting of growers to be held tomorrow evening at San Jose.

The plan was drafted at a recent meeting in Berkeley after several weeks of committee study of control plans for a crop that presents complicated administrative problems. As the simplest and least burdensome proposal, the committee is presenting a plan which would be invoked only in years of bumper crops. It involves prorated thinning of the fruit when green, saving growers harvest expense, issuance of certificates to complying growers and authorizing purchasing only from certificated growers.

Whether the plan will operate under the California prorate act, or under the federal AAA is a matter for growers to decide if they adopt the plan. In either case a two-thirds majority of the growers would probably be required.

Indications that the control plan will meet with the approval of the majority of growers is seen following reports from the Brentwood district that growers there voted 21 to 4 in favor of the proposal.

It is pointed out that in view of a bumper crop this season, with the German market closed, a serious market glut and price-wrecking will develop unless a control plan operates or nature takes a hand with some severe crop-thinning frosts in the leading California producing sections.

Reaction of Washington township growers to the plan is mostly favorable, all agreeing that something must be done to bolster up the price in bumper seasons. Antone Garcia, an authority on apricots in the Niles district, stated that growers may find the cost of thinning too high, in the event that the plan is adopted. He pointed out that the tonnage would be little reduced by thinning in heavy seasons unless every other tree were almost cleaned out, due to the augmented growth of the fruit remaining on the trees.

Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Grau and daughter, Betty, will spend the week-end at Yosemite.

W.P. ENGAGED IN REPLACEMENT OF TUNNEL TIMBERS

In the belief that it may be more resistant to moisture encountered in the long shaft, a crew of thirty-two workmen are replacing pine timbers with white cedar in the Western Pacific railroad tunnel in Niles canyon. The replacements are only for timbers that are weakened. If engineers find that the cedar is more durable than the pine, the latter will be slowly replaced throughout the entire length of the tunnel. One hundred and twenty-five sections will be changed this time and it is estimated that the work will not be completed for three months.

Almost continuous work in the tunnel here, is necessitated by underground water seeping past the wall and roof timbers. A number of springs were encountered when the tunnel was driven through the hill, and the moisture has long been a problem for Western Pacific maintenance crews.

KENNEDY GIVES INFORMATION ON TAX ASSESSMENTS

County Assessor Louis J. Kennedy has thirty-five deputies in the field assessing personal property, preparatory to making the 35-36 assessment rolls. In connection with the assessment of property, Kennedy calls attention to the following information:

All assessments are levied at 12 o'clock noon on the first Monday in March of each year.

An amendment to the motor vehicle act requires clearance of assessor on the reverse side of the white registration certificate securing license plates.

Claims for exemption must be applied for at the office of the assessor each year at the time of filing statement.

One of the major developments in its line in California, the I. D. E. S. home at Warm Springs, will soon be a beauty spot on the west slope of the hills south of Warm Springs.

The 2000-acre tract and the fine old home pictured above, were purchased by the I. D. E. S. lodge at a cost of more than $200,000 from Arthur D. Curtner, son of the late Henry Curtner, who established the ranch in 1867.

The huge seventeen-room home, erected in 1879 by Henry Curtner, will not serve as it is for the old people's home, according to J. C. Valim, grand secretary of the I. D. E. S. organization. Valim said that building will progress carefully, with an eye to permanence. The I. D. E. S., powerful Portuguese fraternal and benevolent organization in California, was founded in Mission San Jose, where Council No. 1 is still among the active units.

No construction has been started as yet at the home. The beautiful gardens are being carefully maintained. Valim, in whose hands the distribution of the I. D. E. S. Bulletin rests, is using a room in the old house as his mailing headquarters.

Demand Exceeds Supply for Modern Homes Here

Indications that building in Niles may soon take an upward sport are noted folowing reports that demands for houses to rent are far greater than the supply.

E. A. Ellsworth, of Niles, said that in his opinion, the demand is of a permanent nature, in that renters are demanding a modern home, equipped in an up-to-date fashion.

Jumbo Hailstones
Hailstones measuring 14 inches in diameter are said to have fallen in New South Wales, Australia, in 1847. In a storm in Natal, South Africa, in 1874, hailstones weighing a pound and a half were recorded. Some years ago children were reported to have been killed by hailstones in Rumania.

Liked Beaver Meat
In the early days beaver meat was preferred to that of buffalo, elk or deer. The tail is fatty tissue, very rich and palatable when cooked, and was greatly relished by trappers and explorers. The liver is large and as tender as that of chicken or goose.

Poultry Matters

Sunshine is as necessary for laying hens as it is for growing chicks because they use a large amount of vitamin D through weeks of intensive laying.

* * *

Quality eggs mean clean eggs, and to this end keep plenty of clean straw litter on the floor of the poultry house every day in the year, and likewise keep the nests clean.

* * *

Bigger and better chickens for the dressed poultry market or standard-sized birds at an earlier age have resulted from certain breed crosses made by poultry specialists.

* * *

In comparing grains and concentrates, a gallon of liquid skim milk or buttermilk is worth as much as a pound of meat scraps, fish meal or soy bean meal, for feeding purposes.

* * *

A hen requires almost half a pound of feed to produce one egg. At least, this is the average feed requirements for six breeds in the 1933 western and central New York laying tests.

Feed Well During Molt

It is to the poultryman's advantage to feed his hens so that they will complete the molt in the shortest possible time, advises P. H. Gooding, extension poultryman, Clemson Agricultural college, South Carolina. The molting period is a natural rest period for hens and during this period they gain back their body weight and change their feathers. Asserting that it takes virtually the same ingredients to grow feathers as it does to produce eggs, the specialist states that the best practice to follow in feeding molting hens is to keep a good laying mash and grain before them at all times. A heavy feeding of grain will enable the hens to regain their weight quickly, and the sooner this is done the quicker the birds will start laying.

Certified Public Accountants
The first formal recognition was given to accuracy in the laws of New York state in April, 1896. Since that time all of the states have officially recognized the public accountant by creating the title, certified public accountant (C. P. A.), such title to be granted or awarded to applicants who satisfy the requirements regarding character, education and professional skill of the state in which recognition is sought. While there is still a lack of uniformity among the several states in the matter of requirements, there is a constant tendency toward greater strictness as laws are modified and new legislation enacted.

Strong River Current
The current in the Main river in Germany is so strong that steam-powered vessels can make little headway against it. So barges and other watercraft that ply between Aschaffenburg and Bamberg have to be towed by the Kettle-Boot, a large and unique boat, that slowly makes its periodical journeys up this swift stream by pulling itself along a giant chain for a distance of 180 miles.—Collier's Weekly.

Man With a Vision
The Puritan, like the artist, is a man with vision which demands expression—only the former differs in the choice of his medium. The Puritan's medium is simply his own life and behavior and ruthlessly he submits to the necessary limitation of his interests and activities that he may give single expression to the thing which he sees in God.

Many of the streets ascending the steep hillsides are laid out in the form of winding stone stairways and glances through the open doorways of humble dwellings often reveal patios enclosed by Moorish arches.

Produce eggs with thick shells by eliminating from the breeding pen each year all birds that lay thin-shelled eggs and feeding the layers plenty of oyster shells or other forms of calcium carbonate (the shell being composed largely of calcium carbonate) and plenty of vitamin D (such as is found in cod liver oil) or give the birds access to adequate sunlight, because a lack of vitamin D often results in thin-shelled eggs, says the Wisconsin Agriculturist.

INFLUX OF "TOUGH GUYS" BAFFLES AUTHORITIES

Authorities were at a loss this week to account for an unprecenented influx of "hard guys" in Niles, of the variety who suffer from hallucinations of fistic greatness.

Constable O. W. Ebright was kept busy over the week-end keeping these "tough babies" on the move. One, who gave his name as Frank McCarty, destination vague, had to be removed to the county jail for investigation.

McCarty appeared in front of Solon's service station Sunday afternoon and proceeded to challenge all who came by. Leon Solon, tiring of McCarty's antics, tossed him across the street on to the railroad tracks, only to have him come charging back for more. The fistic enthusiast was met at the door by Undersheriff William Hamilton, who repeated the tossing performance, then called Constable Ebright. The latter lodged McCarty in the Niles jail, but unable to stand the noise made by the prisoner, removed him to the county jail at Oakland. No charges were brought.

OUT-SEASON DEER HUNTERS GIVEN TERM IN JAIL

It must have been good hunting for three Oakland men near the Calaveras dam last Wednesday night until they discovered that they were being hunted by range riders, after illegally killing a deer on San Francisco Water Department property.

The trio, Harry Vergin, E. A. Lindsay and Albert McPeak, all of Oakland, were arrested by Range Riders Dan McCarthy and Jerome De Lopez after allegedly breaking almost every game law in the book. Hunting out of season, on private property, the three killed a yearling doe, after stalking the animal with a spotlight. Lopez and McCarthy took the three offenders to Sunol where they were turned over to Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch.

Appearing before Judge J. A. Silva, at the Niles justice court on Thursday of last week, Vergin and Lindsay pleaded guilty, and were sentenced to fifty days in the county jail, in lieu of a $100 fine, which they were unable to pay. McPeak, who said he was merely asked to drive Lindsay and Vergin to the "hunting ground," was released with a reprimand.

Game Warden Fred Rogers took charge of the slain deer, placing it in the ice box at the Quality Market, Niles, until it could be suitably disposed of in some charitable fashion.

Deputy Sheriff Radbruch insists that "out-of-season hunters" will not be tolerated.

Collision When Car Backs Into Traffic

A minor accident, involving cars in the stream of traffic leaving the baseball game at the Niles Grammar school Sunday afternoon, occurred on Second street, when Joe Aguilar, of Decoto, is said to have backed his car away from the curb into the path of one driven by Harry E. Gibson, of Niles.

No one was injured, and the damage slight.

MORE ON JUNIOR CHAMBER

businessmen have cooperated 100 percent, and that the future of the service is assured. He suggested that a canvass be made of home owners on Second street for small contributions for maintenance of the patrol, adding that these owners are already receiving an hourly service in the alley back of their property. A number of the residents have already offered to pay. In the event that enough subscribers are found, the patrolman will include the street in his rounds.

Following discussion of new business, including a street lighting and sign project, plans to participate in a summer celebration in Niles, the group voted to supply flowers for the Poets' Dinner, to be held in Oakland next week. The group was requested to furnish the decorations by the poets' organization.

Work will be started soon on a huge cement hill sign, to spell out "Niles" in letters twelve feet tall. Guido Tuana, in charge of the hill sign committee, estimates that the work will take about two weeks. The sign will be located on the high Walpert hill, northeast of town.

President Sam Kerns, after readjusting standing committees, introduced seven new members: Ernest Frick, Richard Davis, Richard Silva, Antone Figuero, Henry Rego, Frank Martinelli and Charles Messinese. All pledged cooperation.

The next meeting will be held at the Florence Restaurant on Monday, March 18, when the group will be addressed by E. Robinson, Pacific Gas and Electric Company manager.

NILES SQUEEZES OUT WIN OVER ALVARADO NINE SUNDAY 7-6

Ragged fielding and spotty work at the bat by the Niles C of C's, almost spelled finis for their long string of victories here Sunday, when the powerful Alvarado Merchant nine led in the scoring up to the final inning. A two-run spurt in the last frame pulled the fat out of the fire for Niles. Final score was 7 to 6.

Occasional rain squalls slowed up the field during the afternoon and somewhat dampened the ardor of the spectators, as the Niles boys slipped and slid, to a total of seven errors.

In the second inning the fans were treated to a freak play, when Tony Duarte's long fly to left field struck the fielder's head and bounced over into center field, to be caught there for the put-out.

Hitting by both teams was mediocre, Duarte and Dutra getting two for five each as the best performance for Niles.
